

Figure 17.12

When an ionic solid dissolves, the ions become solvated and are surrounded by solvent molecules. Why do the water molecules orient themselves differently around the anions and the cations?